Your Firm's Collective Intelligence, At Your Fingertips

Every pitch, proposal, and client conversation starts with one question: “What have we done in this area before?” Foundation has the answer, but not everyone regularly accesses it. Attorneys drafting in Word or replying in Outlook need the same experience data business development and knowledge teams curate—without switching systems or waiting for someone else to pull it.

Built on 30 years of legal-specific intelligence, Lito delivers data and intelligence across the business and practice of law, wherever lawyers already work. With Firm AI Search, Lito responds to complex questions and surfaces your firm's collective knowledge and experience, sourced directly from Foundation.

Firm AI Search is available to anyone in your firm with access to Foundation and Lito. Alongside Word, Outlook, and the web, Firm AI Search now answers in ChatGPT, so Foundation power users can respond to client requests faster and attorneys and client-facing teams can reach the firm's experience without leaving the tools they use every day.

Natural-Language Discovery

Just ask: “What have we done...” and Lito searches your firm's experience data and returns a trusted, cited summary or table.

No Question Too Complex

Combine attributes across matters, clients, and people in one query: “M&A deals for banking clients in North America.”

Meets You Where You Work

Available on the web, Outlook and Word, with mobile as a fast follow. Get results in moments without leaving your workflow.

What You Can Search

Query your firm's experience in plain language across a growing set of Foundation fields, including predefined and custom fields.
