excused until such time as Seller commences building and delivering Products or initial SAP implementation is accepted by Seller, such acceptance not to be unreasonably withheld, provided that, for the avoidance of doubt, such excuse does not constitute a force majeure event.

29. NONASSIGNABILITY

Neither Party may, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, whether by operation of law or otherwise, assign or transfer this Agreement, or any rights or obligations hereunder, without the other Party's prior written consent, and any attempted assignment, transfer or delegation without such prior written consent shall be voidable at the sole option of such other Party. No Party (or its permitted successive assignees or transferees) may transfer this Agreement as a whole without consent substantially all of the business or assets of such foregoing, this Agreement will be binding upon and their permitted successors and assigns.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, Seller shall have the right to assign this Agreement to a wholly-owned (direct or indirect) subsidiary of Seller's ultimate parent, such arrangement not to be deemed a transfer of the Services Limited of this Agreement.

Nothing herein shall prohibit Seller from granting a security interest in any accounts receivable by Seller.

The Lease Term begins on the Lease Commencement Date and ends on the Lease Expiration Date, unless the Lease is terminated earlier. The Tenant has the option to extend the Lease Term for two additional periods of five years each, provided certain conditions are met. The Tenant must exercise the option by delivering written notice to the Landlord between twelve and fifteen months prior to the expiration of the Lease Term. The Landlord may waive any of the conditions at their discretion. If the Tenant properly exercises the option, and all conditions are satisfied, the Lease Term will be extended for five years. The Landlord must notify the Tenant of the Option Rent at least three months prior to the Lease Expiration Date. If the Lease Term is extended, the Tenant must deliver a new Letter of Credit or certificate of renewal or extension to the Landlord at least thirty days prior to the expiration of the current Letter of Credit. The Lease Commencement Date and Lease Expiration Date may be extended if there is a delay in the Substantial Completion of the Tenant Improvements caused solely by the Landlord.

Summarize this document

What effects might tariffs have on this agreement if Distributor will be acquired?

If the Distributor is acquired, the acquiring entity would inherit the Distributor's obligations under the agreement, including compliance with import and export regulations. Tariffs could increase costs, necessitating careful management of import/export responsibilities to ensure adherence to applicable laws and financial viability.
