Quality Clients Trust. Accuracy the Firm Can Prove.

Run complex matters from first draft to closing book with connected workflows and trusted Legal AI, so lawyers move faster without trading confidence for speed.

The Shift: Why “Probably” isn’t Good Enough

AI can accelerate legal work, but high-stakes matters still demand outputs lawyers can verify and defend. When every result must be rechecked, or work is split across disconnected tools, the promised efficiency disappears, putting client trust, matter economics, and the firm’s reputation at risk.

67%

of legal professionals are concerned the cost of human verification and oversight outweighs the efficiency benefits of AI.

6%

of corporate clients say their law firms deliver AI-enabled quality improvements today.

$143B

of legal revenue is under active reconsideration by clients due to AI.

How Litera Helps Lawyers Create Legal Value

Five connected capabilities move work from first draft to close, with speed, accuracy, and trust.

Draft

Document drafting

Create first drafts from firm-approved templates, precedent, and clauses, individually or at scale.

So lawyers start faster without losing firm standards.

Review

Contract intelligence

Analyze individual documents or large contract sets with legal-grade accuracy.

So lawyers spend more time applying judgment, not searching for issues.

Negotiate

Negotiation intelligence

Compare versions, manage redlines, incorporate feedback, and apply deal intelligence.

So lawyers negotiate with greater confidence and consistency.

Protect

Document quality

Proof, repair, format, clean, bind, and redact legal documents and emails.

So work leaves the firm polished, protected, and client-ready.

Close

Transaction management

Manage matters, checklists, approvals, signatures, bulk changes, and closing books in one workflow.

So the last mile moves as fast as the first.
